"There was a wonderful feeling of authenticity and inclusivity throughout. It felt very easy and natural to make connections, which is not always so at public events. I credit this to the focus on community in its most basic form: an active mining of our common ground around food and friendship." -Waterville participant

"It was like a dream come true to have this experience in our space. THANK YOU Community Plate, for the important work you do – for organizing such an amazing event that brought together great food, people, and stories for a memorable and meaningful evening that celebrated Lewiston's richness." – Gerald Walsh, L/A Arts, Community partner
